
Understand your talent and keep your business competitive

As a business leader, your job is to create vision, strategy and momentum to propel your organization forward.

The talent and skill you require to remain competitive is increasing annually, justifying the current strategic corporate focus of talent management.

But relying on systems to accurately capture and analyze data and deliver meaningful metrics against your vision and strategic goals demands immense time and resources, often with mixed results.

Modern Survey offers the continuum of employee surveys - from engagement and satisfaction to retention and diversity. Our team of experts assists at every level of the process.

Take advantage of our full-service team and engage a partnership that will create, direct and deliver results, equipping your organization with the insight it needs to stay sharp and competitive.

Our project management team will help you:

- Select from our expansive research libraries to design your survey
- Customize questions to align with your research goals
- Convert surveys into any language to meet your end user's needs
- Integrate paper surveys and IVR (phone-administered) responses
- Motivate employees to achieve a high survey response rate
- Receive real-time survey response rates throughout the administration
- Maximize reports by receiving a variety of data points and analyses
- Amplify results by communicating survey data across your organization
- Create m/reporter accounts to manage ad hoc reports, post survey
- Maximize results by communicating data and creating formidable action plans
- Design executive summaries and presentations to collate finding into usable reports for your management team